Methodist Pastor Will Start Revival Sunday

Our revival meeting begins Sunday morning. We plan to run two weeks. The first week we will have services at night only. The second week we will have services morning and night. The pastor will do the preaching and the music will be in the hands of local talent. Now, after due consideration the pastor and the stewards thought this would be the best. After 23 years' experience I am convinced beyond all doubt that a meeting conducted by the pastor and the local people will have much more satisfactory and abiding results. Of course in a case of this kind it will perhaps mean that the membership of the church will have to put forth greater effort. As your pastor, I shall do my best. And I expect each of you to do your best. I expect to try to preach as if each member was as interested as myself. That is I shall have no skinning to do. If any member fails to do his or her part, such will have to meet it at the judgment of God. We want everyone in the community to know that you are welcome. All who can sing come and help in that part of the service. We expect to feature the old songs. I am convinced that the singing plays an important part in every great revival of religion.

Three things we wish the revival to accomplish: First, we want the membership brought closer to God; Second, we want, at least twenty to unite to the church because of their personal surrendering of their lives to Christ as their Savior; Third, we want to raise five hundred dollars to pay our benevolences.

We want all Christian people of the town and community to come and take part in the services. If you cannot come each time then come as often as possible. Our one and big desire is to help the entire community.

J. L. (Uncle John) Maberry Died Last Wednesday, Aug. 16

Back in the early pioneer days of Fisher County, 1883, J. L. Maberry became a settler of the McCaulley community, and till his death on Wednesday of last week, was a citizen of prominence in his county and community.

Mr. Maberry passed away at 6:15 p. m., August 16, at the age of 87 years, 7 months and 14 days. He was born in Arkansas, January 2, 1852. He came to Texas in 1870 and first settled in Coleman county.

Survivors are his wife, ten children, 40 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild. The children are Mrs. S. H. Blakeley, of Kilgore; Mrs. G. W. Clark McCaulley; Mrs. Jim Galilee, Brady; Mrs. Grover Seaton of Hermleigh; Mrs. Della Smith of Sweetwater; J. D., Monroe, John, Frank, Ben and Leonard Maberry, all of McCaulley.

Funeral services were conducted at the McCaulley Baptist church, Thursday afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock, in charge of Minister Virgil Jackson, Rev. John P. Hardesty, and Rev. Mayhew.

The body was in charge of the Barrow Undertakers and interment was in the McCaulley Cemetery.

WATCH YOUR CROP OF COTTON NOW IF GOOD OR BAD

By J. R. McCann, Entomologist

The past few weeks has brought much rainy weather which has in many instances been the means of life and death to many cotton fields. As beneficial as the moisture was to the plant so has the same been true for the insect. Many fields that once showed light infestations are now showing rapid increases.

The period during which a cotton crop may be set and carried to maturity is also rapidly coming to an end. Anyone with a good crop already on the plant should inspect his fields regularly and carefully because if the insect should become abundant at this time and destroy the fruit it is doubtful if the plant would be able to produce another.

This is a time now of saving a crop instead of making one. Inspections should be made on foot at different and likely places over the field in general and not from the seat of a tractor or from the road while passing by. Many fields of good stalks contains no fruit at all if closely examined. In making examinations note particularly the fruit—is the plant well loaded? Is there a great amount on the ground? Is there a presence of many hollowed squares and young bolls. Do the squares and young bolls contain grubs? Is anything feeding on the foliage? When one can answer these questions he knows whether or not the insect is at work.

The important point however is not only knowing that the insect is present but doing something to eliminate the pest if found. The best and most efficient way of eliminating such a pest is a dusting machine loaded with calcium arsenate and sulphur. Fed insects can live through an application of these two poisons if they are used correctly. There is only one way to make money raising cheap cotton and that is to produce more cotton per acre and this is impossible if the plant is continually being hijacked of its fruit by an insect pest. Give the cotton plant a chance and it will still grow enough cotton to make money.

Mrs. R. M. Hudson headed a number of her children and other relatives last Friday to Cross Plains to attend an old fashioned reunion of pioneers. She had with her the following children: Weldon Hudson, Misses Veleria and Ava Hudson, Mrs. Robert Gilbreath and husband, Mrs. Fred Britton and husband, Mrs. B. E. Mixon and husband and daughter of White Face, Texas; Bill Hudson and wife and two children, and Billy Joe Hudson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hudson; and Miss Pearl Hudson, who represented the A. G. Hudson family. They all met many of the old time Callahan County folks, and had a great time.

Mr. Surles explained that all a worker need do to get a wage statement is to obtain from any field office of the Board a postcard form, fill it out, and send it to the Baltimore offices of the Social Security Board. These postcard forms may be had by telephoning, writing, or calling at the office, located at 412 Post Office Building, Wichita Falls, Texas, Surles said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Morgan and daughter, Miss Nadine, returned home Thursday of last week from Dallas where Mr. Morgan had been taking treatment following an operation. Mr. Morgan is better but his condition is such that his doctor forbids any company for at least 60 days or more.

Mrs. Emmett Whitaker and little daughter, Oleta of Ovalo came over last week-end to visit her mother, Mrs. Carrie Whitaker and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Williams and daughter, Miss Bernice of Briscoe, Texas, came down on Friday of last week to visit Mrs. J. S. Hubbard, a sister and G. C. Carter, a brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Feagan and two younger sons returned last Friday from an enjoyable trip to Corpus Christi and San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Poe of Latham, Kansas, came down Sunday for a three days' visit.

Mrs. J. E. Boyd and daughter, Miss Kathleen of Sweetwater, spent the week-end in the Neindia community with relatives.

Dorine and Thelma Carlton have returned from Lubbock where they have been visiting for some time.

A Timely Tip For Tactful Teachers

Austin, Texas, Aug. 24—A school teacher's personality contributes more to her success than professional skill, concludes a University of Texas graduate student who has gone into the matter scientifically.

Martha Dickey of San Antonio, completing the master of education degree this summer, has made a research study of 50 women physical education teachers who graduated from the University during the period 1931-36.

Each teacher was scored by her superintendent or principal on skill at sports, co-operativeness, knowledge of teaching methods, personal charm and other teaching factors.

Surveying the reports, Miss Dickey found that overwhelmingly the school administrators rated the successful teacher a success more because of her "teaching personality" than because of her ability to perform skillfully on the tennis court or playground.

BACK FROM NEW YORK

Late Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Tate May and son James Tate, Charles Brown and Kurt Schoemann returned from an extensive trip to Washington and New York after a three weeks of sight seeing especially the World's Fair. Mr. Schoemann used the trip as a double purpose to see and buy fall and winter goods in the various centers, including St. Louis.

The Dillingham family had a great reunion in Lubbock last Sunday. From Hamlin Joe Dillingham and family, Mrs. Will Andress and family and her son, Marvin Andress and family of Stamford, were all accompanied by their father, Rev. M. V. Dillingham and family of Shreveport, La. Also from Hamlin were Mrs. Nora Hopper and her daughter, Mrs. Bill Preston, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dillingham, Mrs. Don Haymer and baby of Shafter, California. Other Texas members of the family joined them in Lubbock, and the crowd was estimated to be around 200 who ate their lunches in a Lubbock Park.

Mrs. Eunice Thompson spent last week visiting Mrs. Sam Young of Hobbs, N. M., and Mrs. Charlie Tupper of El Paso. She was accompanied on this trip by her daughter, Mrs. Austin Poe of Latham, Kansas.

BAPTIST PASTOR BEGINS 15TH YEAR

We are beginning our fifteenth year's work in Hamlin. As we look back over the past fourteen years they hold many pleasant memories.

The church has made progress during all these years. The past year has been in many years a good one. We have had between ninety and one hundred additions. We have two more Sundays in this associational year. We wish every Baptist in Hamlin who should be would bring your membership and become a part of this good church. We are sure it would be a blessing to you and you would help our work. Think about this and come next Sunday.

We thank God for the loyalty of our people and the many kind deeds that you have shown in during this time. We want to express our appreciation for every person whose life we have touched in any way. We have not only tried to serve the Baptist church but have tried to help in every time of need, it mattered not who it was or what it was. We have tried in every instance to help Hamlin as a whole during this time. As we look in the future we covet to be of service not only to our own church but to every one.

Thanking you of the other congregations and you who do not belong to any organization for your friendship through the years, we want you to know we appreciate it. Let all of us remember that the Methodist meeting begins this Sunday and we will pray that God will give a good revival.

Remember we are always glad to have you worship with us and we are looking for you in our Sunday school next Sunday morning.

J. Henry and Mrs. Littleton

MR. FLETCHER RE-ELECTED

News dispatches tell of the National Rural Letter Carriers' Association at Portland, Oregon, and that William L. Fletcher of Hamlin was re-elected their Treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher have their children with them on the trip.

BRONTE ENTERPRISE ISSUES
PROSPERITY EDITION

The little city of Bronte occupies a unique position in the family of West Texas towns, and in Coke County. So unique is Editor D. M. West's place in the journalistic world, that he placed in the mails last week, a crackerjack two-section Special Issue depicting the Progress and Prosperity of his county. Mr. West, it was a good representation of your fine town and county and proves that good town and a good editor can produce evidences of prosperity and push. If there was a single business in Bronte left out one could not tell it, by the numerous advertisements. It takes everybody in a community to produce a good paper. Congratulations, Mr. West.

RUN FOR MONEY

Big shows like Casa Manana, and maybe some big Fairs are finding less and less response in the Rural Press, these days, in the way of ballyhooing for their great "personalities," free of cost. Queens, bathing beauties, movie stars and gorgeous pageants are all fine to know about . . . and knowing is what makes people "yearn" to see. To know about a pretty dress or suit or any article of merchandise, stimulates buying and there is where an ad comes in.

Picture your beauty or comedian, use all the descriptive adjectives possible, all well placed in a display ad in the small town paper gets the trick done at a small cost. So much FREE publicity makes even big papers sick.

INSECT POWDER

NEEDED FOR 1940

Somewhere, sometime away back we have heard of "political bees." Bees of any kind are insects, and have terrible stingers, and if a political bee gets into a fellow's head gear, it rarely ever dies till the voters swat it out. Now the field that it blossoming first seems to be one called Congress. Already there are about a dozen embryonic bees buzzing in the skull caps of certain characters in this 17th District. You see almost any kind razzing a fellow, who is inclined, will turn his head and away the bee starts to buzz. Even some other fields are being "set out" with politics in view for a killing in 1940. It would appear that some form of bee powder should be used. "What glory, politi- cies." It is now more than four months till the next political year starts, and there is a full year and a third of the present official administration to be served. Wonder if it would be a good thing if an office holder should resign before asking for some other office. Wonder how many voters know how much "outside time" some well paid officials take from their duties inside the office. Wonder if a fellow is a friend to another man, who is getting along nicely, and begins to persuade him to quit his calling and run for an office he can never get. We wonder.

TERRIBLE UPSET

OVER THANKSGIVING DATE

The most disturbing thing happening since congress adjourned is about Thanksgiving Day. Now that IS something to think about. About Umteen Coaches have scheduled conference games to be on Thanksgiving Day, and suppose FDR comes along and backs up the date, and the boys do not have a pen full of boosters when their great games come off? It just won't do. FDR is absolutely right according to our way of thinking, but Mr. F.D.R. should give the boys a few months' notice before upsetting them so badly. Now let's all agree with our President and accept a week earlier to give thanks, by giving a holiday.

Let's go one week better and have Thanksgiving on the Second Monday in November. That date will fit the north as well as the south. It will be warm and balmy down here, likely. Turkey may not eat so good then, but think how much warmer it would be on football players and their spectators. It is mighty nice to have a National Holiday, by general consent, but if a state is not satisfied it can announce a year ahead when they think it a good time to quit, go home, eat turkey and have games. If the proclamation calls for Nov. 23, it will come only 12 days after Armistice (that day may fade out) and to put it so close to the Eleventh will tend to kill the Armistice importance. To set the 16th would conflict with Armistice Day more but would make a better period till Christmas Day. It may become wise to discontinue some holidays when a new one becomes advisable.

We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths.—P. J. Bailey.

Horses Got Here Before Tractors

Picture No. 5 . . . The First Great Power Unit

The Herald caught you "napping" the last picture of our series of 15, last week and fooled you one by leaving out Picture No. 5. To keep the connection we will tell you that fully over the place where a long time ago was a mesquite wilderness and roving cattle.

Where wheat grows is a good place for pretty horses. It was the horse that converted West Texas into the area of productive farms — step by step we see by picture how a wild country of the West became what we see it today.

Large, well fed, not over-worked horses spell prosperity for any farm. The horse-power is a form of perpetual motion. The horse need not eat only the cash products of the farm but he can grow fat and strong on the part that is not saleable.

Mrs. Don Dean of McCamey, came last week to visit her mother, Mrs. Tom Hill for a few weeks.

The new tractors are not only new in appearance, but new in design and performance as well. Growers in this vicinity already are coming in to ask about the samples on display.

A TWO-COLOR ONE-PIECE STYLE worn in Hollywood by WENDY BARRIE
Hollywood Feature Player

As the new season unfolds its style trends, more and more, women will realize that one color dress or suit isn't enough. The important Parisienne collections show two, three or more colors all in one ensemble. That's definitely the newest style note for Fall and Winter. This one, as worn by Wendy Barrie, is a one-piece dress, but because of the dual color scheme and jacket effect, has the appearance of two pieces. The style details of this fashion are worthy of special mention: the self-button flap simulated pockets; elbow length sleeves; smart and simply cut skirt; novel self buckle. The right color combinations are all important. This one, as worn by Miss Barrie is a Burgundy bodice with a Turquoise skirt. Other harmonious colors are Rustic Red bodice with Kelly Green skirt. A very becoming outfit for any woman.

The Acorn and the Oak

There has been such a crusade against so-called big business for years past, that many persons get a warped idea of what is big business and what is little business.

Where does little business stop and big business begin? should a business be prohibited by law from growing beyond a certain point? Where should a man's energies be curtailed? Where should service to the public be restricted?

Newspapers recently carried the story of the 24th anniversary of the Safeway Stores—the second largest food retailing organization in the United States. This institution grew from one man's determination to buy foodstuffs direct from suppliers, eliminate in-between commissions and costs, and pass the savings on to customers.

The founder of Safeway Stores had no subsidies, no special privileges, no outstanding opportunity—he just started a one-horse store based on his ideas of service to the public, in the little town of American Falls, Idaho. The rapid expansion of his venture way beyond his own wildest dreams.

A similar history can be recorded for the J. C. Penny Co. which started with one store in the most sparsely settled parts of the United States—Kemmerer, Wyoming. Similar instances could be cited for American businesses and industries too numerous to mention. Such businesses could not have grown as they have except as the result of unusual service to the public, for purchases are purely voluntary.

The United States wouldn't be nation it is today if handicaps had been placed on ambitious individuals which limited the development of their ideas or enterprises.

So when you talk about "big business" check back a generation and see if it wasn't "little business" to begin with. The same opportunities exist today. Is it the part of wisdom to limit those opportunities by legislation or taxation which curbs the fullest play of individual initiative in seeking to render a better public service? —From the Industrial Review.

SOCIAL SECURITY — With the posting of its millions of old-age insurance accounts completed for 1938, the Social Security Board announced that any worker may now obtain a statement showing the amount of wages credited to his account up to January 1, 1939. Statements showing the status of a worker's account will be sent to any applicant, regardless of the time employed or amount of wages received. The decision to provide workers with an opportunity to obtain statements of their wage accounts are reached not only because it is their right to know the amount of wages credited to their accounts, but to correct any records which are shown to be in error.

SEED CRISIS

The price of cottonseed at the gins as the new crop starts rolling to market is making an oil mill executive shiver in his boots and many a tenant and farmer look ahead to rather cold winter.

Cottonseed prices have shot down and down. When cottonseed goes down it destroys the cash purchasing power of the little man in the South because most of his lint money has been spent paying up the crop mortgage.

Strenuous efforts are being made to correct the situation and various plans are now before the Department of Agriculture for action.

Yet the fact remains, this collapse of cottonseed prices is not the result of an over abundance of seed nor the fact that consumers are refusing to buy the products of cottonseed. It comes from another source—the abundance of competing products, namely, lard and soy bean oil.

The great increase in hog production in the corn belt states and the fairly good crops of corn of last year and the prospects this year have brought the production of lard up to a danger point.

Products of cottonseed competing with lard this year have actually sold higher than lard but the consumer and the wholesaler know that this will not continue. As the weight of surplus lard is thrown on the market the demand for cottonseed products must go down. Here again is demonstration of the national scope of this farm problem and the many varied relations which come up in the working out of it. Cotton farmers have cut down cotton acres and have increased feed crops. We might add, however, that our increase in feed crops has little more than offset the feeding values in cottonseed we have destroyed in cutting down on cotton acres. Corn acres have been cut in the Mid-West but Mid-West farmers seeking other means of increased soy bean production. Soy bean oil and meal is a direct competitor of cottonseed oil and meal. In addition, the rise of cotton production in other countries has made possible the importation of cottonseed oil. Seed can be purchased in Brazil, for instance, for around five or six dollars per ton. The seed can be crushed and shipped to this country and sold at a profit even at present low prices. So the rather vicious circle widens and the cotton farmer is caught in the undertow.

Freight Rates

Much is being said in the press and by various public officials about the freight rate differentials which work against the South.

This cottonseed oil situation is a fair example. An oil mill man, whom we have no reason to doubt, told this writer the other day that it costs just twice as much to move a tank car of cottonseed oil from his mill in Birmingham to Cincinnati as it does to move a tank car of cottonseed oil imported at New Orleans from New Orleans to Cincinnati. And so the story goes. When one section of an industry is enjoying an advantage or maybe a little prosperity it is not unlikely that other groups or sections are suffering.

Freight rates have contributed their share to some of our problems, especially in the South. Much talk has been done about rectifying the more glaring discrepancies but thus far little has been accomplished. I might add, right here however, all of the fault is not to be laid at the door of the railroads, possibly the super regulation of the railroads to blame.

SKUNKS! SKUNKS!

While Texas is not generally regarded by Texans as a lead trapping, the state ranked sixth in the Nation, a report for the fiscal year by the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey reveals. It was not only sixth with a total of 590,400 animals taken for pelts, but leads the entire United States in five species: badger, ringtail cats, wolves, Canada and foxes. Ohio and Louisiana tied for the lead in fur product.

Fifteen species of pelts are taken in Texas. A report for the 1938 fiscal year made by J. G. Burr, statistician for the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, shows an increase, the take being 729, However, trapping is declining most annually in the state, the present output marking a decrease of 4 per cent over the 1938 crop, which was 1,407,884 pelts.

WHY Humble Oil & Refining Co. Reduced the Price of Crude

This statement is published as a paid advertisement by Humble Oil & Refining Company for the benefit of those who are interested and not acquainted with the facts.

On August 11 the Humble Company posted reductions in the prices at which it purchased crude oil in Texas and New Mexico by amounts ranging from 5c to 32c per barrel, and averaging 18.5c per barrel. In view of the fact that this action on our part has been severely criticized before the public, we outline below the facts and reasons on which it was based:

1. On August 1 the quantities of crude oil listed below, aggregating 218,920 barrels daily in Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas, were moving to market at prices substantially below the Humble's postings for similar crudes:

AREA	BBLS. DAY
Texas—
West Central	37,000
Gulf Coast	22,600
Southwest	16,900
East Central	12,800
East Texas Field	6,850
Panhandle	1,500
Total Texas	97,650
South Louisiana	81,920
North Louisiana and Arkansas	39,350
Total	218,920

2. The amount of crude moving below Humble's postings was greatly increased when on August 10 the Sinclair-Prairie Company posted a reduction of 20c per barrel affecting the oil produced and purchased by it in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas, which action was followed immediately by reductions in the price made by a number of smaller purchasers. These reductions applied to more than 150,000 barrels of oil. This, added to that mentioned in the preceding paragraph, equals 368,000 barrels. In the three States in which Humble operates, Texas, New Mexico, and Louisiana, the aggregate volume of oil moving below Humble's prices approximated 17 1/2% of the total current production in those States.

3. The movement of constantly increasing quantities over the past year or more of crude produced in the new Illinois fields, reaching a total of 300,000 barrels daily on August 1, on a price basis substantially lower than Humble's postings in its territory, exerted a progressively depressing effect on the crude oil market. The effect was felt in Texas; and actually since April 1 Humble has lost 10,000 barrels per day of business absorbed by Illinois crude. This loss of business was in addition to that lost by Humble as a result of the movement of crude at low prices in the territory where we operate.

4. On August 11, therefore, the total volume of oil moving at prices below those of the Humble was approximately 668,000 barrels.

5. The crude oil market has been under pressure for more than a year. The price adjustments made last October did not remove fully the disparity between Humble's prices and those of some oil moving in its markets. Since that time the volumes of crude moving below our prices have increased steadily, with the result that when the reductions of Sinclair-Prairie and others came on August 10, affecting approximately 150,000 barrels of crude per day, conditions were so bad that we were compelled to reduce our prices to meet this competition. In no case are our new postings lower than the Sinclair-Prairie postings for similar crudes.

6. The Humble Company is primarily a producer of oil. Its crude oil properties constitute its principal asset. Its net production averages 133,000 barrels a day. We are also crude oil merchants and purchase, at our posted prices, 251,000 barrels of crude oil daily in Texas and New Mexico. These prices also govern the price at which we sell the oil which we produce. Because of our large production we are vitally interested in the maintenance of fair prices.

Our refineries consume something near the amount of oil which we produce. As a consequence, with respect to our purchases we are in the same position as a merchant dealing in any commodity. To continue in business, we can not over a long period of time pay higher prices than our competitors. We are compelled to meet competition. The price of oil, like that of other commodities, is subject to change with market conditions. These are simple and fundamental business principles. We were reluctant to cut the price of crude, not alone because of its adverse effect on our own earnings, but also because of its effect on our customers and upon the industry and the state at large. Under these circumstances, we could not continue to pay the prices we had been paying.

7. As a matter of policy the Humble Company maintains stocks of crude oil very slightly in excess of the amount required as working stocks to carry on operations. We do not believe in storage of oil above ground but in production of oil currently as required for market. We do not speculate in oil. We have no desire to buy oil at any price to accumulate for storage.

8. We think the price for oil brought about by the competitive conditions above mentioned is lower than should be realized. In our opinion the flood of oil from Illinois and Louisiana, most of which is being produced wastefully, in violation of conservation principles, is primarily responsible for the market conditions which necessitated our price reductions. It is our hope that these conditions will be corrected and that the market will improve.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

The Baptist church was the scene of a lovely bridal shower on Monday afternoon in honor of Melva Miles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miles, who became the bride of Rowland G. Stephenson Tuesday afternoon.

A program of Indian theme was given in songs, readings and fortune telling which led to an Indian Tepee, where the bride-elect discovered the hidden gifts. These were varied and included linens, kitchen utensils, bric-a-brac, and complete sets of China, Fostoria crystal, and a chest of Rogers table silver. Nearly a hundred guests were served punch and cookies from a lace laid table, by the hostesses who joined in complimenting the popular bride-elect.

MILES—STEPHENSON

MARRIAGE

At 2:30 p. m., August 22, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Miles, in McCaulley, their only daughter, Melva May, and Rowland G. Stephenson, were united in marriage, pastor John P. Hardesty of the local Baptist church, reading the ring ceremony. Only immediate relatives and close friends were present.

The bride was reared in McCaulley where she attended the public school, graduating from High school here in 1936. She is also prominent in social, club and church activities.

The bridegroom is the youngest son of the late W. H. Stephenson, and Mrs. Stephenson, whose home is McCaulley. Prof. W. A. Stephenson, member of the Hardin-Simmons University faculty, is a brother. Mr. Stephenson also attended the McCaulley public school, and later graduated from Abilene high and from Hardin-Simmons University. He was a member of the Cowboy Band of H-S U. Since his graduation from Hardin-Simmons University Mr. Stephenson has taught in the high schools at Snyder, Canyon, Dalhart and Tucumcari, N. M.

For her wedding, the bride wore a powder blue frock of heavy taffeta.
